that the life cells are all gone. Now, impure air, all irregularities are excesses, too much labor, mental or physical, anxiety of mind fatigue, being subject to the rays of the sun for too tong a time, want of pure air, and setentary habits; all these, to a greater or less extent, injure the blood's vitality, by causing the destruction of its life cells. The first symptom experienced is perhaps an acid stostach, then comes

ARSAFARILLA, OR LIFE ADDITION PIL NEW YORK AUGUST 6, 1856 — MESSES. APPLETON & CO.—Gentlemen:—In a book published by you, un for the title of "Yankee Travels through the Island of Cuba; or, the Men and Government the Laws and Customs of Cuba; at Seeb by American Eyes; by Demoticus Philaiethes," I dad some imputations on my public life derogatory to my character and prejudicial to my good name. Convinced, as I am, from your extensive and well acquired reputation, that you could only by deceit or surprise become instrumental in the mean and cowardly detraction of some one who, under a pseudonymous mask, and by the fet on of travels written by a stanger, has attempted to villy his country and to lavish no-loquy and vituperation on the most respectable names conjucted by the control of the documentary proofs that I forward herewith, and which detect the fascehoods and calumny which he has maliciously heaped on me, in order that, appreciating the justice of my claim, you may resolve on a declaration thereof, or some other satisfactor.

Entry of Distasts.

There is no departures from the idea of the unity of disease in the preparation of this underdence. The great Levry has four different purgatives with which in smaller or larger method, i.e., the principle of purgation. Now, thousands of his disciples use Brandreth's pilla, which, in smaller or larger do.es, have all the effects of his four different purgatives. But they still resor, occasionally, to these medicines, and even castor oid also, in severe inflammatory affections, because of its depletive properties. I wish to see the principle of purgatom enforced as a remedy for sickness, because I know that the interests of humanity demand it. It is a gradification to to to the Now I have contributed to us investigation. Those who fully comprehend its value as a remedial agent, will use for 1s enforcement those purgatives which experience has proved to them best for their end. It is conceeded that in a long course of purgation the bowels rejoice in a change of medicine. When a particular purgative has been used for some time, it is an absolute benefit to use another of the same nature, but prepared in a different manner, of different largedients, the cure is accellerated. I am convinced of this, from personal and general exocricare. And the Life Addition Pills can be alternated with Brandreth's, or vice versa. I shall never permit any change whatever in the composition of the Brandreth vegetable universal pills. The hundreds of thousands who use them may rest assured it will personally see they are prepared as they have ever been then the average length. has but confirmed my carry impression of their great value as a general and universal medicine.
